Man Wrongfully Removed From Midland Independent School District Board Meeting

TPUSA Faith Contributor, Pastor John Amanchukwu, escorted out of the auditorium by police after Reading a Vulgar Book Available to Children at Texas Public School

PHOENIX, Mar. 20, 2024— Last night our TPUSA Faith Contributor, John Amanchukwu was wrongfully removed from the Midland Independent School District board meeting for reading from PUSH, a book containing vulgar content that is available to students at Legacy High School.

The book contains graphic details of sexual assault from the point of view of a fictional, illiterate teenager who had been raped, beaten, and abused by her father when she was as young as seven years old. The author, Sapphire, published the book in 1996 and said that it was a “composite of a lot of young women I ran into while I was teaching literacy in Harlem and in the Bronx.” Although it contains disturbing descriptions of rape, assault, and incest resulting in the birth of two children, enough to unsettle any adult, the book was placed in the Legacy High School Midland, Texas high school library.

*“As concerned citizens have come face-to-face with the corrupt curricula and woke agenda foisted upon their kids by activist teachers, administrators, and school boards, the realization that our most basic institutions are compromised has shocked their souls,”Amanchukwu told TPUSA. “In light of this, many parents and communities are now ready to take decisive action to protect their children.”

John would love the opportunity to bring awareness to the issue that this school (& schools across the U.S) are welcoming books like this for kids to read.
